

LITERARY AND ART GOSSIP.

M. Doré's latest contribution to the gallery exhibited in Paris this year, "The Bell of Liège."

The first volume of the new series of the "Littérature Française" has just appeared at St. Petersburg, an illustrated periodical, published monthly, called "Littérature Française."

A Free Library at Stockport has recently been opened by the Mayor of the borough. The library will contain 30,000 volumes, and a large portion of the space is already occupied.

The death is announced, at his residence, 4, Upper Seymour-street, London, within four days of his ninetieth birthday, of Mr. George Johann Paul Fischer, Court Painter to his late Majesty George IV.

A New Zealand contemporary states that there is reason to believe the well-known novelist "Ouida" is in New Zealand. It is added that her object in visiting the colonies is to obtain material for a new tale.

A Russian telegram from New York reports that the statue of the late General Grant, which was erected in New York, has been removed to Virginia and deposited in the Capitol at Richmond.

Mr. Ernest Longfellow, the eldest son of the American poet, is an artist by profession. He is about to publish, we understand, a number of etchings of remarkable American scenes, and his father contributes to the volume verses descriptive of each.

A New Jewish synagogues was consecrated by Dr. Adler, Chief Rabbi, at Brighton, on the 23rd September. It is situated in one of the principal thoroughfares in the town, and is a handsome building, of a simple and elegant design, at a cost of £12,000.

The Church Herald announced on the 22nd September that after its next number it would cease to exist. The Church Herald has been a life of six years, during which it has advocated the cause of the Church of England with a plainness of boldness which has made it unique among its contemporaries.

The London states that there exists in St. Mark's Library, at Venice, a manuscript in the handwriting of John Locke, consisting of notes on medical subjects, which is the more curious, as he has been known to have been averse from allowing his name to be connected with any medical practice.

The Athenian states that H.B. Iwakura, formerly one of the Japanese Ministers, who visited England some years ago, has presented to the library of the India-office a set of the Chinese version of the Buddhist Scriptures. The work was packed in seven boxes weighing three and a half tons.

Signor Sigmund's bust of the late lamented Commander Goodenough, from photographs of the deceased gentleman, is to be reproduced in marble by that eminent sculptor, and the cost is to be defrayed by public subscription. His Excellency the Governor of New South Wales is taking a warm interest in the movement.

The Athenian announced that Mr. Smith has been directed by the trustees of the British Museum to remove his excavations at Nineveh, and he expects to start for the East early next month. His new book on the "Chaldean Account of Genesis," which contains his recent discoveries, is now in the press and will shortly be published.

The recent failure of several large American publishing houses, containing the names of the publishers of the "Littérature Française," "The Church Herald," and "The Athenian," has been a subject of much interest to the public. The failure of the "Littérature Française" is the latest and most serious.

The French Nation, which has just acquired the books which formerly belonged to Montaigne, for the sum of 84,000 francs. This consists of admirable 16th century editions, splendidly bound, and stamped with the Montaigne's emblem, besides a large number of volumes of notes from the hand of the famous Montaigne.

The study of these books will render it possible to trace without difficulty the careers of all the men of letters of the 16th century, and to give us a really original edition of the "Essays" of Montaigne.

At a meeting at the London Tavern of Philhellenes and Hellenes, under the presidency of Mr. G. P. Lascaridis, it was agreed, "That the members of the Hellenic community in London be invited to establish a Club, bearing the name of 'The Byron Club,' to which English and Hellenic should be admissible as members, and the objects of which should be to commemorate the genius of Lord Byron, and to be generous and heroic exertions for the liberation and regeneration of Greece, and to cultivate the growth and fruition of philhellenism in Greece, and Philhellenism in Englishmen, and of mutual unity between the two nations."

The Rev. Dr. Newman, accompanied by the Rev. Arthur Henry, and about twenty other persons, including three ladies, recently ascended to the summit of the Lincoln tower of Christ Church, the new edifice now building in the Western suburb of Oxford, to dedicate the Chapel, in order to perform the ceremony of laying the topmost stone. The tower, which is 220 feet high, has been built at a cost of about 27,000, raised by equities of land in England and Ireland, and in commemoration of President Lincoln and the abolition of slavery. The total cost of the new church, which will seat about 2,000 persons, and is now externally almost completed, together with the schools attached, is estimated at £45,000.

The granite and marble tomb of the late Lady Carnarvon has just been completed. It is situated at the west end of the mortuary chapel in the cemetery in Highgate-park, near the cemetery. The monument is in red Portland granite, with a base of polished grey granite, and within this is an open space for flowers, and in the centre is a slab of red Aberdeen granite, surrounded by a wreath of white willow, and the red slab is enlaid, and has the following inscription:—"Evelyn Georgina Katherine, wife of Henry, fourth Earl of Carnarvon. Born November, 1824. Died 25th January, 1875."

On the plinth of the red granite slab is the following inscription:—"We asked life of thee, and thou gavest her a long life, even for ever and ever. Thy name shall be remembered with honor by all who love thee. Thy name shall be remembered with honor by all who love thee. Thy name shall be remembered with honor by all who love thee."

A portrait of George Stephenson, painted by the late H. W. Pickersill, R.A., has lately been added to the collection in the national Portrait Gallery, London. It represents him with thin white hair, and high stiff collar, and a dark coat, and a young man's face, and is a very generally known representation by Lucas. He is seated in a green velvet chair, holding an open paper in both hands, and wears the same coat, and high stiff collar, and a dark coat, and a young man's face, and is a very generally known representation by Lucas.

The red sea is enlaid, and has the following inscription:—"Evelyn Georgina Katherine, wife of Henry, fourth Earl of Carnarvon. Born November, 1824. Died 25th January, 1875."

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

TUESDAY, 16th November.

Hardly anything has been done in New Paton to-day, owing to the late hour of the day, however, some business has been done, and the market is quiet.
